Additional comments/questions

10 responses

Skirmante at Vilnius University was very kind and arranged a hotel close to the venue since I have problems with walking.

Everything is ok and thanks a lot.

Very good arrangement.

The accommodation is comfortable to stay and very close to the university.

What is the next step for the SWOT Analysis and the Internationalisation Strategic Plan that we have drafted?

The foods provided are fantastic.

Good arrangement.

Arrangements were OK.

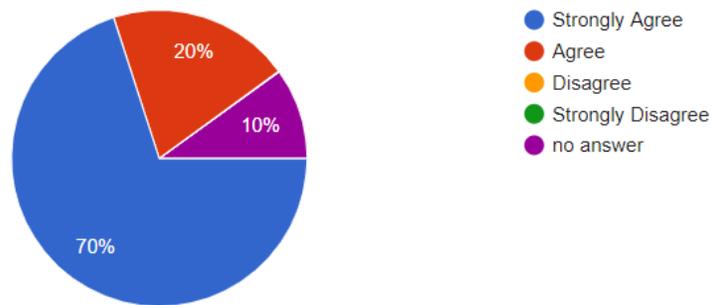

Provided enough time to digest the concept and practices.

As I joined to project recently, I cannot say much about before communication.

Improved planning and management for internationalization.

Clear and useful.

We enjoy listening the case study with example.

Personally, I learned how to write a SWOT analysis, I know my university's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats to a certain degree; and that now my office has a draft of interantionalisation strategic plan, which can be developed further based on the context of my country and university.

However, there be problematic for the leadership board of my university to approve and implement the plan as the plan is not collective drafted by the leadership board of my university as a whole, but merely the office of International Relations of the University.

The presentations are very informative.

internationalization strategy is essential for the universities.

Planning of WP2 activities was successful.

I have had clear idea how to continue our tasks.

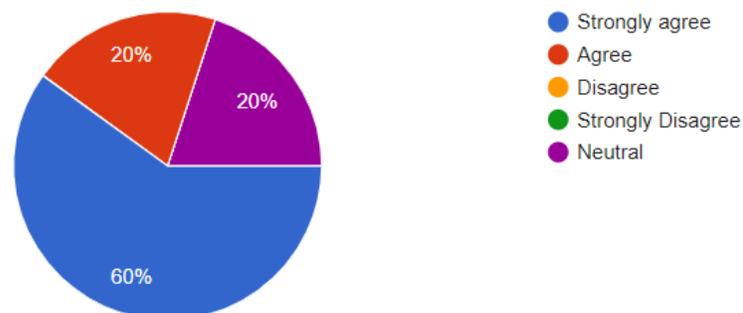

It was useful to hear the partner's situation and problems they are facing in daily work. Some of the activities might have a been a bit too long.

- Regarding the content, some members of the project consortium had learned how to create a SWOT analysis and planning and management for internationalization. Further, realization of the importance of the Internationalization strategies for universities and addressing some situations and obstacles members are facing in daily work had also been mentioned as key points by participants.

Needs more accommodating plan.

Understand clearly.

N/A.

It will be helpful if there is a draft or a format of report for partner universities as a guideline.

From the training, we got lots of knowledge and ideas how to develop internationalisation strategies in our University.

International relation officers need more training.

Vilnius training was very useful.

I got the basic idea about how to organize National Workshop to be effective.

I think all the activities were useful and had some ideas from European partners as well as learning about situation in Asian partners countries Universities.

Did this TOOLKIT meeting contribute to your University's development? If so, how? What lessons did you learn?

Sharing information about SWOT and action plan.

Training will help to develop the 5 year strategic plan for 2021-2025 of the NUOL, make me to understand the SWOT analysis and experience learnt from EU partner universities on internationalization.

The lesson learn gained from the training could help us to develop university's strategy for internationalization target.

Yes, it did. The office of International Relations has an internationalization strategic plan as guideline to follow and that the Office of International Relations has to work collaboratively with faculties and departments within its university to care out its internationalisation strategic plan and activities. A student association is also a great support for internationalisation of a university.

Yes, it was. We learned the importance of strategic planning in order to enhance the internationalization of our university. It is noteworthy that the casual relationship (without strategic plans) hardly makes a success.

Yes, action plan is needed to fulfill the internationalization strategy
Strategic development.

We had the chance to conduct need analysis (SWOT) of our University for internationalization.

Our University Pro-rector for studies visited some of the presentations so I think it was useful. I have learnt more about Bologna and Uppsala universities internationalization strategies.

- All the comments were positive.
- Most of the members had learned on how to develop university strategies and to conduct SWOT analysis. Further, the need to work collaboratively with departments and faculties had also been highlighted by the partners.

I am very pleased with the management of the Perdiem for the participants.

At present, we need more projects for capacity development of IRO staff.

internationalization strategy should be updated every year.

Student leader's presentation was impressive.

No more.

Well done!
